Hope To Have 6,000,000 Less
Unemployed By Labor Day; Need Every-ones Help

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 26.—With 7,000 blanket code agreements voluntarily signed by employers, the nation was further cheered today on its drive to "happy days," following the radio address of Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the national recovery act, as he reiterated administration promises of 6,000,000 less unemployed by Labor Day, the first Monday in September.
"Nothing will ever hamper the president's industrial recovery program," Johnson assured his audience, as he likened the president's radio address to a war time appeal.
Country Approves.
Johnson said:
"This country understands all this.
It approves all this. It is at last aroused. The president's recovery drive is under way. It is an irresistible march. The unemployed are already going back to work and Labor Day has been set as the great objective."
"There are minor annoyances, but the only thing worth while mentioning is this great march out of the valley of despair, and begun last night—not here and there—not after weeks of hope deferred that maketh the heart sick, but under the banner of a great leader, in every village and town and city in every part of the United States."

Shows Business Much Increased

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 26.—In the most favorable business review issued since the tidal wave of depression swept industry of America around, the Federal Reserve board announced today that activity had increased to 89 per cent of the 1923-1925 average.
That compared with 60 per cent in March, on the basis of the seasonally adjusted index, and 77 per cent in May.
The advance, especially that of the first half of July, was contrary to the normal seasonal tendency which at this time of the year is downward.
The stimulation afforded by the various recovery measures is now expected to carry the country through the summer into the normal autumn upward movement, without a slump, an objective aimed at by the administration.

OCEAN FLIGHT
NEXT ON ROUTE

Several Of Planes Are Tem-

Enroute From U. S.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
SHOAL HARBOR, Newfoundland, July 26.—With one of its number forced down enroute for repairs, General Italo Balbo's Italian seaplane armada this afternoon reached Shoal Harbor, starting point of a non-stop flight back to Europe.

SHEDIAC, New Brunswick, July 26.—Adhering closely to schedule,
General Italo Balbo's Italian seaplane armada left for Shoal Harbor,
Newfoundland, shortly before 9 a. m.
E. D. T. today.

The first planes of the impressive squadron got away from the smooth waters of Shediac Bay at 8:45 a. m.
E. D. T. and the last took to the air at 8:56.
The distance from Shediac to Shoal Harbor is approximately 500 miles.

Ocean Embarkation Point

From Shoal Harbor, a non-stop flight across the Atlantic is anticipated. General Balbo has not yet decided whether to take the northern route direct to Valentia, Ireland, or the southern course by way of the Azores.

Weather conditions prevailing at the time the ocean flight is to begin will determine the course to be chosen.

Returning to Lake Orbetello, Italy, after its triumphant flight across the North Atlantic to a Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, the armada conquered difficulties in getting away on time today.

Two of the original squadron of 24 planes were obliged to make forced landings yesterday while enroute to Shediac from Floyd Bennett Airport, New York, one came down at Rockland, Maine, because of a broken oil feed pipe, while the other descended at St. John, New Brunswick because of gasoline shortage.

All were wearing parachutes, but in some manner were trapped in the falling wreckage, eye witnesses said.
The plane, commanded by Lieut.
Murray, was en route on a service mission from its home base, March

What caused the left wing to be

Public Response To Recovery Plan Assures Success

President Highly Gratified
As Thousands Of Messages Arrive

OVER 15,000 PLEDGES
ALREADY RECEIVED

More Continue To Pour In;
President Is Exceedingly Confident

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 26.—
President Roosevelt today characterized the magnificent public response to his radio appeal as assuring the complete success of the national recovery program.
With the number of telegraphic pledges of support mounting to the 15,000 mark, the president was highly gratified and his confidence was plainly apparent today when he received newspaper reporters in the regular press conference.
The most gratifying thing about the response, the president said, was that many of the messages stated the senders were not waiting until August 1 to put into effect the shorter hours and minimum wages, but were acting immediately.

Gratifying Features.

Another gratifying feature, the president said, was the diversification of the response. Represented in the 15,000 telegrams, which were continuing to pour in today, were large and small employers in every state and section of the country.
Every industry was represented.

The president would not attempt to estimate the number of workers who will be re-employed under the Recovery Act, although some of his aides have set a goal of 6,000,000.

The public works authorization is now mounting toward the billion dollar mark. Projects will be released as fast as the necessary machinery can be assembled.

YAROSLAV, U. S. S. R., July 26.—Convicted of criminal negligence in the drowning of 98 passengers when his Volga river excursion steamer capsized near here several weeks ago, Captain Nicolas Andreyev was sentenced to death today by the Soviet supreme court.

The captain's property was ordered confiscated as Soviet justice meted out the supreme penalty. His assistant, Leonid Kourapoff, was sent to prison for ten years.

Ten others on trial with the captain and his aide received minor sentences of from one to two years in prison. They were steamship company officials and trade union leaders.

The sinking of the steamer was attributed to overcrowding, 250 being allowed aboard while its capacity was only 125.

NEW YORK, July 26.—One of the 24 Italian seaplanes flying from Shedd, New Brunswick, to Shoal Harbor, Newfoundland, made a forced landing near Cape Traverse, Prince Edward Island, today, according to the Mackay Radio Company.

Cape Traverse is on the southern coast of Prince Edward Island, 40 miles northeast of Shedd.

ped into The News office this morning with the evidence of his catch. The fish surely was a beauty. Cooper expects to have it mounted to preserve.

Jimmy Fleming, son of Manager William G. Fleming, of the Municipal Golf Course, is a happy boy again today, as his dog has been returned. Mrs. William Hewitt, of North Mercer street, found the little fellow several days ago, and when she noticed last evening that the dog belonged to Jimmy, she promptly returned it to him.

When talking to Pa Newe this morning at The News, Dr. J. L. Popp enthusiastically remarked about the unusually beautiful sunrise between 4:30 and 5 o'clock. The colors, most vivid, were intermingled with rays of white and lacked only a body of water in making a complete picture.

A crowd of pedestrians got a thrill and two motorists got a fright, no doubt, when two machines came to a halt in the middle of the Public Square at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Both, it happens, were operating under green, one headed north and the other south. Luckily, no one was hurt and the damage was trivial.

Within a few days the patriotic "N. R. A." banner, designed by President Roosevelt's recovery forces for its drive for jobs will probably make its appearance about the city.

The one-eyed flyer from Texas and Oklahoma, appeared shy, as his open automobile was engulfed in a torrent of ticker-tape and a storm of cheers on the route to city hall. The crowd broke through the police lines at one point and stopped the plane to wring the hand of the pilot with the white patch.

"It's easier flying the ocean," he said.

At city hall, where Mayor O'Brien welcomed and decorated him, Post appeared no less embarrassed.

"You are paying the penalty of being a hero," the mayor said with a smile.

Political Rumor Is Amusing To Phillips

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., July 26.—"It's all very amusing news to me. I hadn't even thought of such a thing and no one ever suggested it."

So spoke former congressman Thomas W. Phillips today when asked about published rumors that a banquet at his home here last Saturday had been staged to sound out friends of Gov. Gifford Pinchot on the possibility of a Pinchot-for-Senator-Phillips-for-governor alliance next year.

LARGEST PASSENGER LOCOMOTIVE IN U. S. IN B-O SERVICE HERE

er's art, so fine that the Baltimore & Ohio had it on display at the Century of Progress and then had to replace it because of the increase in passenger business. For a time at least it's home roundhouse will be New Castle Junction with it making the run between here and Washington, D. C., every other night.

At first glance one is not impressed with the size because of the beautifully proportioned lines. Long it is, and large, but each part of it complements the other in such a fashion that one's first reaction is delight with its balance, rather than awe at its size.

Getting down to detail and examining it for size one begins to realize the enormous size of the locomotive. The cow catcher to the end of the water tank is 105 feet 5 inches in length and weighs 384,000 pounds, with 65,000 pounds tractive power. Eight 74-inch driving wheels carry it along, while the firebox looks like a small living room. The dimensions of the firebox are 138 inches long by eight feet wide, with the grate having 92 square feet of heating space.

The tender carries 23 tons of coal to feed the giant, and this is spread over the firebox by means of an automatic stoker and a steam pressure direction feed. The water tank could be used for a swimming pool for it carries 18,000 gallons of water to keep up the 250 pound steam pressure carried inside the boilers.

Forestry Green.

The predominant color of the engine is forestry green, with trim black. Standing on its track in the B. & O. roundhouse Tuesday afternoon it looked like a picture of what the perfect locomotive should be, enlarged many times. J. B. Harward, general foreman of the shop, displayed it with pride, and well he might, for there has never been such an engine before. The famous Royal Scot which went through New Castle to the Century of Progress is a small engine in comparison, and has neither the lines nor the appearance of the Lord Baltimore.

On its maiden trip Tuesday night John Smith was at the throttle on the right side and Howard Schreiber of Highland avenue on the fireman's side. The cab in which they sat is a spacious affair, with four rather than the usual two seats there. Back of the engineer is a leather seat and back of the fireman is another, to provide space for officials who might be riding the engine. Every modern device for safety and comfort can be seen inside the cab and the engineer who is fortunate enough to be assigned to the Lord Baltimore must be a man skilled in his work.

The Lord Baltimore will be back in the New Castle Junction shops on Thursday after completing its round trip to Washington, D. C., and will be used regularly out of New Castle Junction.

Large engines are no novelty down at the B. & O. terminal, but even the behemoths that are usually found there look small in comparison with the Lord Baltimore. It seems to exude pride in its beauty and size and this can be pardoned for it stands out as a super passenger engine.

lated the local organizations on the manner in which the affair had been carried out and informed those present that New Castle had the honor of his first official visitation as department commander. Mr. Shields gave a most interesting and instructive address along patriotic lines and based on the history of this country. The address of Mr. Hess was also a patriotic nature.

Parade Feature.

The parade feature of the reception was held at 5:30 o'clock and in the parade formation was a police escort, Sons of Union Veterans Pipe and Drum Corps, Squad of Company K, Sons of Veterans Reserve, a large group of Daughters of Union Veterans in Uniform and the commander and other civil war veterans in cars.

The dinner was held at 6:30 o'clock. The national colors predominated in the decorations. Mrs. Pearl Cook presided. It was opened with the Star Spangled Banner after which Mrs. Mary Beisel, daughter of Elizabeth Winans McBride for whom the local Daughters of Union Veterans Tent was named, led in prayer. The department commander and other veterans were seated at the guest table. Others at this table included Mrs. Cook, Ralph M. Campbell, past department commander of the Sons of Union Veterans, Mrs. Jessie Crooks, past department president of the Daughters of Union Veterans, Herman Gilbert, commander of Osca L. JOHNSON SPEAKS TO NATION ABOUT RECOVERY CODES

"means that you will have to employ more people to do the same amount of work and that will increase your cost of doing business."

He continued:

"Of course there are ways to beat the rules of any game. We are just asking people to rise above these general terms to rise above these cheap little ingenuities and join with the president to beat the depression. "If we don't get purchasing power to the proper level and do it now, there isn't going to be any bigger business. There is, going to be less business. Prices are way ahead of prices right now. Speculative price advances are the best way to kill the goose that lays the golden egg, and as most business men will agree, that it is a pretty sickly-looking goose right now.

Real Business.

"As this plan begins to go to work we are going to see some real business in this country. There is a starved demand here such as never before. Worn out automobiles, unpainted houses, shabby shoes and clothing, rickety furniture, threadbare rugs—I won't go through the whole list.

"All that is needed to start a flood of business is to take away the fear of unemployment and get a little money into the hands of people that need things and this is the way to do it."

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

By MARSHALL MASLIN
My idea of a happy home is one in which everybody laughs at father.

You go into such a home and five minutes after you've stepped through the front door you discover that father has none of that enormous unwieldy dignity that some fathers possess.

He's one of them. They may not call him by his first name, but they might as well. The children make jokes about him openly. In fact, father's weakness and fallibilities seem to be a standing joke in that group of people.

Father always is forgetting things. Father can't remember where he put his keys. The children can always get an ice cream cone out of father when mother might remind them that dinner is only half an hour away. When mother's out and the kids are at home with father they can always manage to stay up at least half an hour later than usual. Father has no control. Even the dog and the cat have no respect for his authority. He's not the one who feeds them; he may earn the money, but he doesn't take the food actually out of the ice box. Who is this big guy, anyway?

And what's more, father accepts the situation. He knows his place and fills it contentedly. To be sure he's the one who earns the money that keeps the family together, but he knows full well that his wife is the one who keeps it together in every other sense. She raises the children, arranges the meals, trains the little savages to be civilized beings, checks them in this respect, gives them full freedom in that respect, puts them to bed when they have colds, makes them scrub their teeth and is responsible for the thousand other details of family life. She's the boss of all that and the children know it and so does he.

He, father, can be and ought to be just the Big Friends. And in the happy family that's what he is. And you can always tell that he is by the way the children treat him. The instant you hear them laughing at him and the instant you see how he takes it you know in any family whether it is rounded and happy and healthily centralized into a serene and joyous unit. These are not enemies, bound badly together in mutual distrust and hatred. These are friends, contentedly living together in kinship and love. Look around you and count the families, known to you, that are like this—the ones in which the children laugh at father and father knows it's because they love him.

YOUR HUSBAND

Are you a fussy wife?
Complaining whenever husband disturbs anything about your home? Because he is not careful where he lays down his pipe or his papers. Sputtering because you must pick up his housecoat or his slippers. Because he wants to remove his tie, unbutton his collar and otherwise make himself comfortable, do you continually upbraid him?

Do you object when he wants to go out to attend a meeting with friends?
Do you allude to the fact that you are alone all day and he might stay in once in a while?

He sees people and things interesting but your life is monotonous. And there is much more to add to the number of complaints you make.

A man's working hours represent close application to his duties and even more faithful service to keep that job than in any year previous. Establishments are running with reduced forces, more is expected and demanded of the man with a job.

Therefore if your husband has a job you know he must stand to it with his whole heart in order to keep it and you ought to have sense enough to give him peace when he gets home and not try to quarrel if he wants to go out.

Safe Driving "Hint"

By The National Safety Council

DRIVING IN "DESERTED" AREAS
One of the greatest mistakes a driver can make is to get the idea that he can safely speed on city streets in the wee small hours when streets are apparently deserted.

The same principle holds true during the day in sparsely traveled residential districts. You approach an intersection and if you know there is little travel on the cross street you are tempted to go through without diminishing your speed. The fact that you can do this repeatedly without mishap increases your confidence. But some day another car will be coming along that cross street and you will be unable to stop in time to avoid a smashup.

When danger seems most remote—beware!

PROPERLY FED CATS DO NOT LOOK FOR BIRDS

Living in the suburbs I hear many complaints at this season of the year of cats molesting and killing birds. It is a well-known fact that cats when well fed will not molest birds. Let me add that a cat should be fed on an exclusive raw meat diet four times daily, with plenty of milk and water to drink. Then there will be no craving for birds to eat.

In six years I have never known my own pet cat to molest or kill birds, though where we live there is plenty of opportunity.

WIFE MAKES FACES IN COURT AT MAN SEEKING DIVORCE
While John C. Curtin of Boston, was telling Judge Joseph R. McCool in probate court about his wife's cruel and abusive treatment of him, on which he based a petition for divorce, his wife, Margaret, began making faces at him in the courtroom.

Att. Fred Katzman, attorney for Curtin, asked Curtin if his wife's actions in the courtroom annoyed him.

"No," answered Curtin, "I'm used to them."

Judge McCool warned Mrs. Curtin that if she made any more faces she would not be allowed in the courtroom. She is contesting the divorce.

In the last four years there has been in this country the mightiest "redistribution of wealth" that has taken place since Columbus made his discovery. If any one is sceptical about it, let him read the figures of decrease in income taxes. Council Of Chiefs Appraised As Federal Efficiency Force

Co-ordination Believed By Public To Be Indispensable To Prompt Application Of Measures For National Recovery

Announcement by the National Administration of creation of a co-ordinating council to facilitate the whole recovery program is received with general approval by the public. The magnitude of the task before the government is seen as so impressive that the chiefs of the several branches of work must be kept in touch through some means not previously available. Good results are expected from the regular sessions of the new council, and from the selection of Frank C. Walker as Executive Secretary. The council will include the cabinet members, the Director of the Budget and the chairmen of the recovery agencies.

"In place of former Tuesday cabinet meetings," explains the COLUMBIA (S. C.) STATE, "the President has provided for a frequent joint meeting of the regular cabinet with all the administrative 'big chiefs'—director of the budget, chairman of the R. F. C., governor of farm credit administration, etc. Frank C. Walker, a rich man, formerly of Montana, now of New York, is to be executive secretary, with no salary. The President expects to attend one meeting a week; all meetings will be attended by Executive Secretary Walker who, it is assumed, will lead in co-ordinating the work, and will keep the President informed."

"It seems a simple and obvious measure of reorganization," according to the NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE, "compelled by the policies which the Administration has adopted. When you are attempting to regulate wages and prices, to say nothing of hours of labor, in a nation of 125,000,000 inhabitants, the task of administration at Washington is simply appalling." The Herald Tribune adds that "the President hopes to produce harmony by assembling all the co-ordinators once a week and teaching them all the same tune." That paper, however, warns against the danger of "colossal bureaucracy."

Commenting on humorous references to the new body as a "super-cabinet," the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS declares: "The truth is as prosaic as it is creditable to the alert and resourceful Chief Executive. What he has called into being is a supercouncil, composed of the members of his cabinet and the heads of the principal new administrative agencies who are not in the cabinet. The object in view is systematic co-ordination of the efforts being made by the Administration as a whole to bring about national recovery. The supercouncil is to meet regularly. It will have plenty of important work to do. That it was a sensible move to set up such a council must be apparent even to the inveterate jokesters. Red tape, bureaucracy, and delay. Efficient functioning by the supercouncil should mitigate, if not remove, those drawbacks to governmental control and direction of industry."

"The recovery council," in the opinion of the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "should prove a valuable clearing house. Almost inevitably there must be overlapping of authority and of fields in these various agencies. The council provides an avenue of adjustment. With the President sitting, as he must, as head of the council, all the differences and troubles arising may be ironed out before the man who, after all, is placed at the head of every one of the executive agencies of the government. The new council and its members are faced with a tremendous task."

"It was easily recognized," states the SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) UNION, "that no individual was capable of running the vast recovery machine. Even the Cabinet was so preoccupied with routine affairs that other helpers were called in to regiment the machine."

"I think she smiled! I couldn't swear. Of course, to such a startling truth."

Irrigation Systems Installed On Farms In Lawrence County

Truck growers in Lawrence county have inaugurated the irrigation system and while the new project has been in operation on two truck farms only a brief time the worth of irrigation is shown in a very noticeable manner.

Michael Fontanella, Wampum, R. D. 2 and Charles Glorioso, Butler highway, are two who have installed an irrigation system.

On the Fontanella truck farm 15 acres are being irrigated. The water is pumped from a stream of water by a 15 horsepower motor through a three inch pipe about 1000 feet. The motor, like that on the Glorioso farm, is driven by Pennsylvania Power system current and the Fontanella pump is capable of pumping 300 gallons a minute.

It is regulated to throw out about 200 gallons a minute and is used early in the morning and after sundown at night. It operates several hours each time and in six hours time can place 72,000 gallons of water throughout the irrigated 15 acres.

According to Mr. Fontanella he can now grow not only better produce but as much on three acres as he did previously on 20 acres. Plants which have received the benefit of irrigation stand out better than those which have not received the benefits.

At the Glorioso farm which is near Baldwin stop, there are 10 acres under irrigation. The electric motor is 1 1/2 horsepower which drives a pump in a well about 63 feet deep.

The pump is operated about 10 hours a day and the flow of water is well regulated through the various ditches which give every plant a drink. Joseph Glorioso, son of Charles, who explained the operation said green stuff of a very good quality and ten times as much can be grown with the aid of irrigation as previously.

The irrigation in both truck farms has been under way only a short time and many persons who are interested in irrigation have visited the truck farms.

Average Daily Engine Dis-patchment From New Castle Junction Now 49

Engine dispatchments out of New Castle Junction on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad have leaped forward in the past six weeks. The present average daily dispatchments is 49 engines, with last Sunday topping the list with 55. This is against an average of 22 daily dispatchment of engines six weeks ago.

There are two reasons for the unusual increase. First the freight business which has been climbing by leaps and bounds, and secondly the heavy passenger business, made so by the fact that the B. & O. is hauling thousands of visitors to the Century of Progress in Chicago.

Huge coal shipments to the lake and iron ore from the lake account for much of the freight increase. The increase means that many engine and train crews are being recalled, shop men are being recalled, and there is an air of intensity in the Junction yards that comes only from plenty of business.

is said to be the most rapid this country ever witnessed, the pace being about five times as great as that attained in 1915, when huge war orders from Europe poured into this country." The Banner also refers to the appointment of Secretary Walker, with the comment that "heavy responsibilities will rest upon him," and that "he will, indeed, be the key man, in a sense, of the entire recovery and relief program, inasmuch as reports from every bureau and department must be 'cleared' through him and be ready for transmission in compact form to the meeting of the general board of strategy and, where advisable, to the President himself."

"The people of the country," records the CHICKEN DAILY NORTHWESTERN, "approve the setting up of an advisory council, to act as a general board of directors for the recovery program. It is the biggest job of the moment. The hopes and hearts of the people are with the Administration, even though there are minds that are not yet convinced of the possibilities of the plan. . . . Mr. Walker's chief duties as the co-ordinator of co-ordinators," as he has been termed by some, is to have the various members of the group agreed on the essentials of a particular program before submitting it to the President. The President wants to have central authority, but does not intend to surrender or delegate any of his real powers."

"The Administration," advises the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, "cannot permit vigilance to relax for a moment. With billions to account for, a trust made sacred by the purposes for which it has been created, the party in control faces a test the outcome of which is bound to affect not only the economic, but the political future of the country. The Democratic party itself may be made or broken by its passage through this fire."

"It will presently become a planning board," says the DANBURY NEWS-TIMES of the group, while the SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) REPUBLICAN advises that "there is no Constitutional obstacle to the permanence of such a council."

Weekly Health Talk

"As is well known, babies have a decided penchant for putting into their mouths anything and everything upon which they can get hold. No doubt, this proclivity is based upon the fundamental instinct of acquiring food. But, the lack of intelligent discrimination in many cases has resulted in extremely sad consequences. However, this tendency is by no means limited to the infant group. Mature persons sometimes, to their sorrow, do much the same thing," states Dr. Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health.

"For example, upon the say-so of a friend or acquaintance, a number of persons are prone to swallow this or that, simply because it comes highly recommended as a cure for an ailment which in the main is self-diagnosed."

"The result is that, lacking any specific and actual information regarding the physical disorder, a condition is assumed to exist (frequently wrongly so), which is then followed by the self-administered pills or liquids, unprofessionally recommended."

"As an instance in point, a death of a woman was recently reported to the Health Department, which was directly attributable to the use of a remedy recommended by a friend for the relief of joint pains. The remedy in question was found to contain a derivation of cinchophen. Having an unusual susceptibility to this drug, the patient developed yellow atrophy of the liver which caused her demise."

"Any abnormal reaction to a drug is professionally known as an idiosyncrasy and means that the individual is particularly sensitized for that drug. A great many valuable drugs continuously used with benefit, will occasionally produce very uncomfortable, if not poisonous, symptoms in persons having an idiosyncrasy against that particular drug. Such a possibility is sufficient argument against the use of drugs not professionally supervised. But coupled to this is the grave possibility that self-administered drugs are but the consequence of self-diagnosis."

"It indeed is rather hard to explain why persons will readily delegate to others personal matters which require experience they do not possess, but are prone to set themselves up as diagnosticians of their own bodily ailments of which they are woefully ignorant. It is just as difficult to understand why people will try out a remedy which some 'dear friend' suggests because it relieved another dear friend suffering from supposedly similar symptoms."

"Professional men have devoted years of study, to which is added daily experience, to attain necessary information to treat the sick. It is inexcusable presumption for the lay person to assume such a role, either in giving medical advice to others or applying it to one's self."

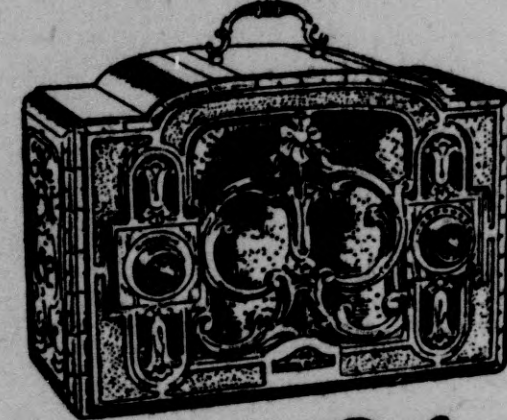

"Drugs and diseases are highly specialized subjects. The wise person should appreciate that they require highly specialized attention and supervision."

Hitler Orders Sterilization To Save Nation

Cabinet Decrees Law For Compulsory Or Voluntary Sterilization

SEX CRIMINALS TO BE STERILIZED

(International News Service)
BERLIN, July 26.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler's cabinet today decreed a law "for the prevention of a degenerate young generation," and providing for voluntary or compulsory sterilization of all persons suffering from hereditary diseases.

The law will become effective January 1, 1934.

Under the provisions of the law anyone suffering from one of several diseases, including chronic alcoholism, may be sterilized if his children are regarded as certain of inheriting the parent's maladies.

Special sterilization courts will be established, consisting of a judge and two physicians who will decide secretly whether the operation is to be performed. Sterilization will be performed only at state hospitals.

Compulsory Sterilization
The appeal of persons ordered sterilized will be permitted, and will go to a supreme court of sterilization. If this court's decision confirms the verdict of the lower court, the operation may be performed against the patient's will.

A second law decreed simultaneously by the cabinet provides for compulsory sterilization of sex criminals.

It was officially pointed out that sterilization is regarded as necessary to stave off a threatening degeneration of the nation, and that while the healthy families of the nation have an average of only one or two children, the degenerate families have an average of four.

The government went on to state that as a result of this the nation would have an excess of degenerates after three more generations if nothing were done to check it.

Federal Public Building Plans Being Advanced

Projects By Government Will Cost About $60,000,000; Plan New Buildings

NEW POSTOFFICES WILL BE BUILT

Hope To Put 1,000,000 Men To Work By Fall; Regional Advisers Named

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 26.—A federal public building program costing $60,000,000 has been approved by the Budget bureau as a part of the $33,300,000,000 public works program, members of congress were informed today.

The projects include new post offices and federal buildings in many larger cities. Proposed buildings in small cities where the government can rent cheaper than build have been stricken from the list.

With the public works administration organization now nearing completion, formal announcement of additional public buildings is expected soon. Thus far only 14 buildings costing $6,900,000 have been announced.

Strong Pressure
The administration was being subjected to strong congressional pressure for a liberalization of its public buildings program. Projects estimated to cost $250,000,000 and including post offices for hundreds of small towns have been listed by the treasury under the congressional building act.

Appointment of ten regional public works advisers by President Roosevelt was to be followed by the naming of advisory committees of three for each state.

Edward J. Flynn, secretary of state of New York and Democratic champion of President Roosevelt, was named regional adviser for district No. 2, to be comprised of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey. Headquarters for this district will be established in New York.

The regional advisers, Secretary of Interior Ickes, public works administrator announced, will serve as direct representatives of the public works administration in its effort to put 1,000,000 men to work in the early fall.

Return Youth To Reformatory

State police arrested Maxwell Cengelko, North Beaver township, on a charge of breaking, entering and larceny at the residence of Rev. George Neill, North Beaver township.

He is alleged to have taken five dollars, some of which was recovered by the State police. He was taken to Morganza reformatory yesterday by Juvenile Officer Jack Dunlap. The youth had served time in a reformatory previously and served out a parole. The Lawrence county court ordered his return to the institution.

BROTHERS ARE SENT TO JAIL

Tim and Joe Callahan, West Washington street extension, Union township were sent to the county jail in default of a fine of $10 and costs by Alderman Brice following a hearing on charges of disorderly conduct. The brothers were arrested by State police following the swearing out of an information by Mrs. Joseph Callahan against the brothers who had got into a fight.

FINE IMPOSED

BESSEMER, Pa., July 26.—At a hearing on a charge of disorderly conduct last night before Squire Cheney, Auel Luskus, 32, was found guilty and fined $10.00 and costs. It is said that at a recent hearing in Bessemer where three other men were defendants Luskus made remarks the State police claimed constituted disorderly conduct and he was arrested promptly with the result of being found guilty last night.

Darkness Causes No Cessation Of Work Of Taking Out Stone At Neshannock Falls Quarries

THE ROCK FACING

THE LOADING STATION

Old Dame Nature gives up her possessions rather grudgingly at times. Perhaps the old lady feels that after taking a million years or more to build up a stone deposit, mere man isn't going to get it away without some effort upon his part. To get it he must shovel and drill and blast, using his machinery and explosives and man power.

Getting out 140,000 tons of stone out of Dame Nature's storehouse at Neshannock Falls is the job that is keeping the Bates and Rogers Company busy at the present time. They have to get the stone out before snow flies and loosening stone that is 95 per cent silica is no child's play.

Day And Night

When the company got the contract for building the Espyville-Andover highway through the Pymatuning Dam, it called for 100,000 tons of rip-rap stone. Rip-rap stone is stone that must be 24 inches thick but has no particular size as to length or width. Later the company got the contract for the highway that will cross the dam and this called for approximately 40,000 tons of rip-rap stone.

After searching this part of the country they found Neshannock Falls stone just what they wanted and quarry men were set at work digging it out. It soon developed that daylight was not sufficiently long to permit them to get the stone out on time and a night shift was arranged.

Lighting engineers of the Pennsylvania Power Company were called in and asked to suggest a lighting arrangement that would permit the quarrymen and loaders to work all night and this was done. The accompanying pictures show just how well it was done. These two pictures were taken late at night by Lewis J. Lewis of the Pennsylvania Power Company, but the lighting is so bright that it was possible to take the pictures without the use of any other illumination.

The one picture shows the facing of rock that is being dug out. Even the drill markings are shown on the face and the ledges that have been cut away can be seen. The other pictures shows the loading engine with a huge pile of stone nearby and a car being loaded.

Wierd Spectacle

The scene at night is a wierd one at Neshannock Falls. On a foggy night the fog sifts through the light rays and at a distance one imagines there is a conflagration. On clear nights the beams of light can be seen for miles, while in the quarry the lighting makes it as clear as day without the inconvenience of the heat of the sun to oppress the workers.

Day and night the drilling and blasting and loading goes on, for the total of the order must be checked against the passing days. By the time snow flies the Espyville-Andover highway must be rip-rapped ready to withstand the wave action of the impounded waters that will flow in next spring. The rip-rap for the other highway job must be gotten out and shipped also, and so Bates and Rodgers have double teamed Dame Nature.

The night lighting of the quarries attracts many visitors to the quarries at night and so far as it is known, this is the first time the Neshannock Falls quarries have been lighted and operated at night.

No Instructions Here As Yet On Honor Roll Plan

Assistant Postmaster J. G. Leslie announced today that the local office will probably establish the "roll of honor" mentioned by President Roosevelt in his radio address of Monday night along with other offices throughout the land, but not until further instructions or particulars about it come from Washington.

The office had received no information concerning the proposal today. President Roosevelt's plan is to hang in every post office in the

Since 1929 there has been a steady decrease in furniture prices. Fine furniture by the end of 1932 was selling for almost half the 1929 level.

But suddenly, as it always does—the skies clear. Optimism has replaced pessimism. The wheels of the nation are beginning to revolve.

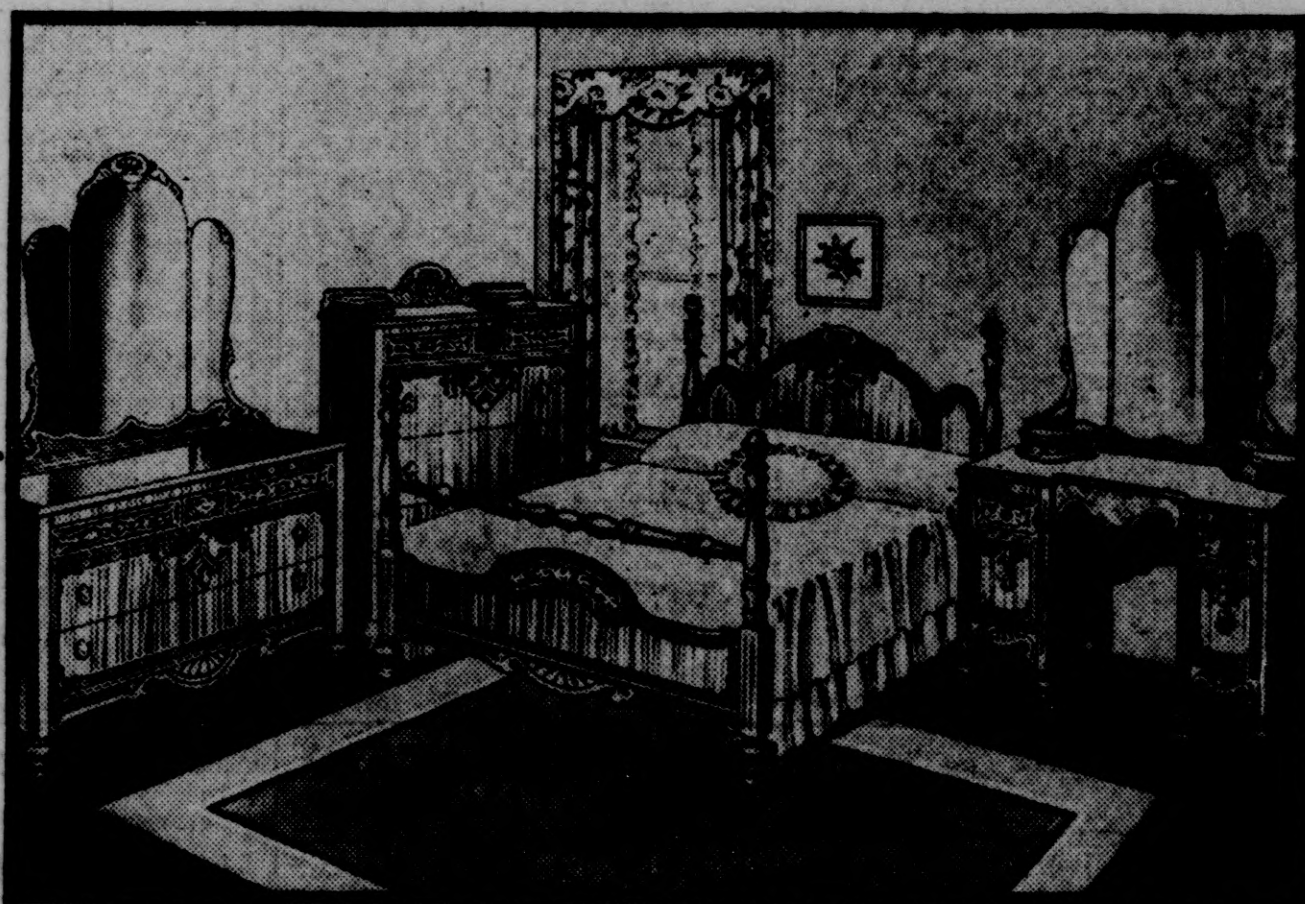

Commodity prices are going up. Factories are employing more men. Wages are being increased. You will be interested when we tell you that—

Furniture manufacturers have raised prices 25% to 40%. The rock-bottom has been forced up.

But HANEY'S so far are still maintaining the old LOW prices. Cash purchases made three and four months ago in preparation for this AUGUST SALE, combined with our tremendous purchasing power, enables us to offer you ROCK-BOTTOM prices while our present stocks last.

Now is your time to get values like you have never gotten before—like you will probably never see again. Of course, you want to save—so I urge you to BUY NOW—AT HANEY'S—during this gigantic AUGUST SALE.

PLAN FOR APPLICATION OF RECOVERY CODES

Some Idea Given Of Proposed Use

General Impression Is Presented Of Recovery Code Proposals

PUBLIC OPINION FORCE BEHIND MOVE

By ARTHUR C. WIMMER
Special Washington Correspondent,
New Castle News
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.—Some advance idea of how the national recovery administration hopes to apply fair practices codes in New Castle may be gotten from preliminary announced plans of the administration.

The recovery administration will issue an official badge to be displayed by employers cooperating under the blanket code or specific codes for specific industries. Such employers may display this badge on their premises, goods, correspondence and equipment. The badge will bear the design of an eagle, clutching a cogwheel in one claw and bolts of lightning in the other, with the words "N. R. A. Member" above the eagle and "We do our part" below the bird. The recovery administration will appeal to the public to support such employers and to boycott others.

Detail Yet Vague
Although details are a bit vague yet as to just how this appeal to the public will be enforced, a general impression of the plan may be gained from conversation with various officials of the recovery administration. It will be conducted almost entirely through local organizations. Being an agency of the government it will operate without fear of libel. It is the hope of the administration to have every employer in the nation operate under the blanket code or specific codes advanced by individual industries. Pending submission of specific codes, employers will be expected to operate under the blanket agreement with the president. These codes limiting hours and wages will apply to virtually all employees from grocery clerks to taxi drivers. Exemptions will be allowed only for certain workers requiring technical knowledge and those for whom suitable substitutes might not be procured.

Two State Directors
In Pennsylvania, this appeal to the public to support only employers entering the N. R. A. plan will be conducted by two state directors. Under the federal plan they will organize coordinating agencies in every community of the state. It will be the function of these agencies to "police" their respective municipalities. They will urge all employers to make agreements with the president, will try to see to it that such employers abide by the agreements after getting the recovery administration's badge, and will give publicity to the list of employers operating under the N. R. A. codes.

How these Pennsylvania coordinating agencies will function can best be illustrated through consideration of one locality. The agency for New Castle, for instance, will keep on file at the post office a record of all employers operating under the N. R. A. agreements. By various means the New Castle coordinators will urge the public to patronize only such employers. Here is an example of how the local agency will "police" employers:
John Doe works in a bank, a grocery store, a tin mill, or a box factory which has signed a fair practices code and has received the N. R. A. badge. He feels he is paid less or being worked longer than is called for in the code. He complains to the local coordinating agency and it will be the duty of the agency to check up on the situation, warn the employer if he is found violating the code, and to have the employer deprived of his N. R. A. badge and stricken from the N. R. A. list unless he corrects conditions.

General Hugh S. Johnson, director of the recovery campaign, concedes his whole program to coax the industries into line is based upon cooperation. He hopes for and is sure he will receive this cooperation before September 1, when the voluntary entry into agreements expires. After that, the General maintains he has the power to drag recalcitrant industrial groups into line.

Perry's Old Niagara Is Being Re-built On Lake Erie Shore

ERIE, Pa., July 26.—The pounding of shipbuilder's hammers again echoes in the tamarack surrounding Presque Isle Bay as solid three-inch planking is nailed to the side of a brig of war.

The brig Niagara, the ship which Oliver Hazard Perry used to cut the line of the British fleet and ride to victory in the famous battle of Lake Erie 120 years ago, soon will float again as the result.

The state of Pennsylvania has appropriated $25,000 to make the old ship seaworthy once more. The old black timbers, many of which found their way into the ship the day they were cut in the northern Pennsylvania forest, are being replaced where necessary. But the sturdy skeleton of Perry's second flagship, in spite of 80 years of the bottom of nearby Misery Bay, still is intact and is the foundation on which skilled shipbuilders are rearing the rebuilt vessel.

The Niagara was the ship to which Perry removed when his flagship Lawrence was disabled by the British fleet in the engagement off Put-in-Bay, O., Sept. 19, 1813.

CHEVROLET
There is only one type of body construction which Chevrolet will permit on the chassis of the cars it builds: That's the type which every test—and every experiment—and every experience has proved to be the safest, strongest, and best. Not steel alone, because steel alone is not enough. But a Fisher body of steel reinforced by hardwood! The same kind of construction used on practically all the highest-priced cars in America.

Chevrolet well knows that steel alone has one distinct advantage: it's cheaper. Steel also is strong—up to a certain point. BUT—beyond that point, steel alone will bend and crumple under severe stress or shock. It takes the strength and supporting solidity of a hardwood reinforcement to give you the full protection and full satisfaction you want in a motor car body today.

If you're thinking of buying a new low-priced car, better watch this matter of bodies, and watch it carefully. Insist on steel reinforced by hardwood! Fortunately, the only low-priced car with this preferred type of body is also the only car with a proven valve-in-head six; with Fisher Ventilation; Cushion-Balanced Power; a Starterator. That car is Chevrolet—America's most economical automobile.

Grain Market Being Watched

Administration Waits To See How Drastic New Rules Will Work Out

RESTRICTIONS FOR TRADING

By PAUL C. YATES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Bringing to a close its initial drive against the grain market, the administration today waited to see how drastic new rules proposed by exchange officials to halt speculative excesses would work out.

These rules, formulated in response to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's demand that the grain trade "clean house," are to become effective as soon as they can be approved formally by the business conduct committees of the exchanges.

They include a limitation of five cents on the daily price fluctuations of wheat, rye and barley, with four cents on corn and three cents on oats. They impose severe restrictions on future trading either for long or short accounts, along with the elimination of "floor privileges."

Under New Code
Not content with the promises of voluntary cooperation made by the grain men, Wallace rushed plans to place the exchanges, mills and terminal and country elevators under an industrial code.

This will strengthen the government's power, giving it direct control of the exchanges. At any time, it can require federal licenses for brokers, speculators and dealers.

George N. Peek, farm act administrator, demanded the "key" master code and the various supplementary codes be submitted at the earliest possible date.

Stock Market At Opening Today Slightly Irregular; Gains Outnumber Losses

GRAIN MARKET HIGHER TODAY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 26.—The stock market displayed a better tone today after yesterday's sinking spell as trading started at 11 o'clock under the revised trading rules for the shortened day.

The majority of issues opened with gains, led by such stocks as General Motors, American Telephone, N. Y. Central, National Biscuit, American Water Works, Johns Manville and the real estate. Weak spots were U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical and American Can.

The Governor Says

What Is Going On In Harrisburg— And Why.

By GIFFORD PINCHOT Governor of Pennsylvania

Pennsylvania—the greatest industrial state in the union—must take its place in the front ranks in the war on the depression.

The call to arms has been sounded from Washington.

I have every confidence, and the people of Pennsylvania have every confidence, that our employers will move forward, rank on rank, file on file, to a great victory.

The chief provisions of the blanket industrial recovery code, as approved by President Roosevelt, may be summarized as follows:

1. Maximum week of 40 hours for white collar workers.

2. Maximum week of 35 hours for mechanical labor until December 1, 1933, but with the right to work a maximum week of 40 hours for any six weeks until then.

3. Working day for workers limited to eight hours.

4. Minimum wage for white collar workers ranging from $12 weekly to $15 depending on size of city in which workers live.

5. No child less than 16 years of age to be employed except in some cases where it does not interfere with school work, and then for not over three hours a day.

6. Prices not to be increased out of proportion to production and merchandising costs.

Industry from now on must operate on the basis that to run a factory or operate a mill is a social privilege and carries with it a social duty.

The employer's responsibility does not stop with paying dividends to stockholders.

The idea that there must be more and faster production, fewer people at work for less pay, and more and more dividends, is a relic of an era that ended when the whole world was plunged into an economic abyss in 1929.

Now we know that to keep the wheels running there must be purchasing power. That purchasing power can only come from the great masses of our people. The great masses of our people are wage earners.

It is, therefore, clear that if the great masses of the people are to supply the needed purchasing power, they must have their own purchasing power raised. And higher purchasing power comes only from higher pay.

There is a nutshell you have the heart of the new code, as I see it. We are not going to have a great uniformed brass-buttoned police force to enforce this code.

But we are going to have the greatest power in the world behind enforcement. The greatest power in the world. Of course I mean public opinion.

Public opinion is behind the code. I hope there will be no slakers in this state.

Industrial recovery, which full cooperation under the code will assure, depends on 100 per cent acceptance of the code. Industrial recovery means more to the great industrial state of Pennsylvania than to any other.

Pennsylvania did not lag behind in the World War. She will not falter now.

The state government stands ready to assist in every possible way. The agencies of the state government which deal with employers and workers in any way will do everything in their power to help industry cooperate with President Roosevelt.

The reservoir will not appear to be more than a swollen stream for several weeks, unless the rainfall is much heavier than it has been since the temporary flood gates at the dam were closed, according to George S. Beal, engineer in charge.

National Recovery Stores To Display Special Insignias

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON July 26.—The National recovery administration Tuesday announced adoption of the special insignia authorized for stores and other employers who comply with the president's blanket code.

The poster is in the national colors. Against a white background is a design of a spread eagle in blue, with a legend beneath in red: "We do our part." It bears the word, "member" and the initials "U. S." in red.

Is Up To Public

The announcement stated: "For the public to do its part, it must know which employers have done their part to put our people back to work by making these agreements with the president and by codes.

"Every industry and every employer who has agreed with the president on this plan, or who has had approved code covering the vital subject of re-employment, will be enrolled as a member of NRA and given a certificate and a government badge, showing the seal of the NRA and the words 'member NRA' we do our part."

"I will be authorized to show this badge on all its equipment goods, communications, and premises. Lists of all employers authorized to use this badge will be on file at all post offices so that any misrepresentation by unauthorized use can be prevented."

Community Picnic Day

Large Crowd At Cascade Park For Community Gathering

GOOD PROGRAM IS ON SCHEDULE

Cascade park resounded with laughter and gaiety today as New Castle enjoyed its first Community picnic since the city council took over the operation of the recreation center.

All of the amusements were geared and operating at high pitch. During the afternoon a program of athletics was scheduled to get under way and a large number of baskets of food also were to be presented.

The Cascade park commission, Major Guy Wadlinger, Thomas Blake, Maurice Markley and Frank Hill arranged for the picnic and received the help of officials and prominent citizens.

Many stores here were closed this afternoon. All of the offices in city hall were ordered closed by Mayor Charles B. Mayne and the park crowd was swelled by the attendance of many people from outside the city.

Knights St. Vitus Will Take Record Number On Retreat

Will Leave Thursday For St. Fidelis Seminary For Three Days Stay

Members of the Knights of St. Vitus will leave Thursday afternoon for St. Fidelis Seminary, at Herman, Butler County, to participate in the annual retreat that is taken at that place by members of the organization.

Thirty members, in spite of the depression, will participate this year, a record number in the history of the retreats, during which much time will be spent in the meditation along religious lines and receiving religious instruction, also healthful recreation. The retreat is under the auspices of the Capuchin Fathers.

At a meeting held Monday of this week by the Knights, the details of the retreat were completed. Those participating this year will assemble at the club rooms on Maitland street, adjacent to the church on Thursday at 4:45 p. m. The group will leave in a caravan of seven automobiles at 5 p. m. sharp. Transportation is being furnished for all.

This year's registration in spite of general business conditions is the largest in the history of the movement in St. Vitus Parish and this is due to the untiring efforts of Jacob DeFonso, the chairman for the retreat in the parish and the assisting members of his committee, Dr. Warren V. Massaro, Francis Augustine, Vitus Conti and Alex. Natal.

The increase in interest is shown in the fact that in 1930 but two members made the retreat, in 1931 sixteen members and in 1932 there were twenty-four members in the group. This year the group has grown to thirty.

John "Iron Man" Quinn Not Through

Veteran Pitcher Released By Cincinnati; Works Out Each Day

Hopes To Land Job In The Minor Leagues; Been Pitching 30 Years

By JOHN C. HOFFMAN
International News Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO, July 26.—The baseball historians are ready to put down the name of John Pius Quinn as a spitball pitcher who is gone, only a little forgotten, a fellow who used to be a good pitcher and an example of amazing longevity in the science of the curve ball.

But Jack Quinn, although stripped out of his resiliency by the inevitable hand of time and mellowed by the march of 48 full and hurried years, is not yet prepared for the historians or, for that matter, a pipe and the rocking chair. He is going to pitch some more.

Works Out Daily

Recently released by the Cincinnati Reds and, for all of that, by sixteen clubs in the American and National leagues, John Pius is daily to be seen limbering his arm at Comiskey Park or Wrigley Field. There is even a possibility that he may be enlisted for service by the White Sox, who, as Manager Fonseca has said, have seven or eight throwers, but no pitchers. The White Sox could use him.

Asked what he was going to do now that he was through with baseball, old John Pius said:

"Through with baseball? Why, I've only begun to pitch. I'll be pitching for some club again. It may be a Minor league club, but I'll be pitching. I'll always be pitching."

This from a patriarch who has been pitching baseball for more than 30 years, sitting in the grandstand Wrigley Park the other day, after he had cooled himself in a shower following a brisk workout. Jack went on:

"I ought to be down there on the field now. I can still show some of these young guys something."

Reminiscing always distasteful to this gray-frosted iron man, was something that old John Pius did with characteristic reluctance. But he isn't pitching right now and talking is the next best thing.

"You know," he said, with something of a smirk, "the present day crop of ball players don't go at this game like the old gang. When I came up in 1909 with such fellows as Joe Wood, Ty Cobb, Sam Crawford, Chief Bender, Cy Young, Rube Waddell and Walter Johnson around, it was a tough grind for a youngster."

"Most of these fellows would ride a kid until he was almost crazy. Fortunately, they didn't scare me."

John Doeg beat Karl Kamrath and Frankie Parker won from Grady Frank at the Seabright net yesterday. Baroness Levi outplayed Carolin Babcock in the women's singles.

Report Hornsby Refused Post As Cardinal Manager

Frisch Given Job Only After Mister Hornsby Had Politely Refused It

HORNSBY MAY LEAD BROWNS

By JOHN C. HOFFMAN
International News Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO, July 26.—It may be a little disturbing to mention it at this time and it's all over until it happens again, but we are able to report, now that Frankie Frisch is manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, because Rogers Hornsby did not want the job.

There was no little astonishment over the matter and some few tears were shed because Mr. Hornsby was seemingly forgotten in the selection of a suitable victim by Samuel ("We Must Win") Breadon. But no less than a month ago, our absolute authority tells us, the Rajah was offered the position, whereupon, with characteristic candor, Hornsby said: "No. You don't pay enough money and you run the ball games from the office."

Now, on the face of his reputed manner of procedure, it would seem very silly, indeed, to vision the Rajah refusing a managerial position, but it so happens that both Hornsby and Mr. Frank Navin, the Detroit owner, are thinking of making Hornsby the manager of the Tigers. The St. Louis Browns have similar plans, it is understood.

From time to time, Hornsby has been named manager of everything save the World's Fair and the current report places him with the St. Louis Browns.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON
Central Press Association

A SUCCE IS MOST DEPENDABLE WHEN PLAYING AROUND A TREE.

ALEX. MORRISON says:

Very often you find yourself stymied by a tree or some other high obstacle. You are undecided about whether you should try to curve around the tree to the left or to the right.

If you are in the habit of slicing, naturally you'll play to the left.

If you have been hooking most of your shots, you'll be tempted to try a hook around the tree.

But a hook under pressure seldom comes off as planned because it's the most difficult to control.

It's always best to try for a slice, because it's easier to send the ball in this curve and you can be sure of lofting the ball in this kind of a shot.

Call Meeting Of Ellwood Hi Alumni At Lincoln Gym 8:30 Thursday

The purpose of this organization is to form a better degree of union and interest between the graduates, the school, and general public. If plans come to a head periodical social gatherings to renew old friendships and acquaintances will be held. A definite day would be set aside in which the Alumni could attend a sport function in a body.

Thousand Dance At Park Tuesday

Crowd Attracted By Whiteman's Orchestra Not As Large As Expected

About a thousand persons were at Rainbow Terrace, Cascade Park, Tuesday evening to hear Paul Whiteman and his orchestra. Despite ideal weather conditions, and the biggest band attraction in the country today, the pavilion turnstiles clicked in only about 850, and of this number it is estimated 50 per cent came from surrounding towns.

Whiteman lived up to his advance notices. He directed the band in person, his radio stars were present and did their numbers, and the band itself was the usual Whiteman symphonic arrangement of jazz music. There is only one Paul Whiteman, and Rainbow Terrace had him last night. To accommodate the 26 musicians the bandstand had to be augmented, with the two pianos out on the wings of the platform.

To those who attended Whiteman was all they expected. Minus the 100 pounds that he has lost, the king of jazz directed his band with the agility of a college frat band leader. Peggy Ford, Jack Fulton and the Rhythm Boys clicked and the customers got their money's worth. The band played from 9:30 to 2:00.

In the contest for blues singers Whiteman asked the crowd to aid him in selecting the winner and with that approval awarded the palm to Miss Florence Berry.

May Manage Browns

ST. LOUIS, July 26.—Rogers Hornsby, former manager of three different National League ball clubs, will be appointed pilot of the St. Louis Browns within the next 24 hours, according to reports here today.

The Cardinals, of which he is now a member, are said to have requested waivers on Hornsby, and his signing of a contract with the Browns is believed to be held up only because waivers have not been received from two National League clubs.

A week Bill Killifer resigned as manager of the Browns, leaving Coach Allen Sothern as acting pilot.

POLICEMAN ARRESTS HIS CLOSE FRIEND

(International News Service)

BRISTOL, Conn.—As William S. Gilbert wrote in "The Pirates of Penzance," a policeman's lot is not a happy one. Sergeant Henry Reginski subscribed to that thought when he had to arrest Clement La Combe, his life-long friend, and former fellow workman, with whom he fought side by side for months in France during the world war. The charge was non-support.

Hospital Aide Preparing For Donation Days

City And County Committees Appointed To Solicit Food In October

Hope To Gather Substantial Supply For Jameson Hospital Patients

With the appointment of city and county committees to assume charge of soliciting and collecting from the churches and granges, the mill has again been set in motion to grind out a huge supply of canned fruits and vegetables for the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Annually at this time the Jameson Memorial Hospital Aide Society quietly gets to work in preparation for what it designates as "Food Donation Days." These two days usually conducted in late October, are for the purpose of gathering together gifts of food for the hospital in a quantity to help in the maintenance during the winter.

People of New Castle and Lawrence county have always responded eagerly and most generously to the suggestion. The donation days bring scores of bushels of apples, potatoes, onions, hundreds of jars of fruits and vegetables and huge supplies of jelly to the hospital food supply rooms.

Mrs. J. Norman Martin is general chairman of the county solicitation and Miss Laura Stevenson is in charge of the city. Today the two chairmen have completed the appointment of their assistants and announce them as follows:

In charge of city solicitation:

Epworth Methodist—Mrs. Harry Marshall
